Flood Report

The river rose slowly through the night and by morning the lower fields were under water. Farmers moved their animals to the high ground before the bridge was closed. Nobody was hurt, and the council thanked the volunteers who worked until dawn.

Repairs to the bridge will begin in spring once the engineers have finished their survey. The road to the village remains open, although drivers are asked to use the eastern route while the work is done. A public meeting is planned for March.