The committee met on a Tuesday, which was unusual, and agreed that the report would be circulated before the end of the month. Nobody objected to the timetable, although two members asked that the appendix be read aloud at the next meeting so that everyone could follow the figures.